If you realize you may have lost your phone, here are a few tips to increase your chances of getting it back:

"Find My Phone" Feature

Start by using the "Find My Device" feature from Google, for Android users. To do this:

- Open the page android.com/find.
- Sign in to your Google account.
- A notification will be sent to your lost device. You'll see on the map where your device is.
 - The location may be approximate and may not be precise.
 - If the device is not found, you may see its last known location if available.
- If prompted, select Enable Lock & Erase.
- Choose the action you need.
 - Play sound: the device will ring at full volume for five minutes, even if it's on silent mode or vibration.
 - Secure device: the device will be locked with a PIN or password. If it's not already locked, you can set it up. To help someone return your device, you can add a message or phone number to the locked screen.
 - Erase data from the device: all information on the device will be permanently deleted (except data on SD cards). After this, the Find My Device app will no longer work on it.

Apple users can rely on "Find My iPhone." To do this:

- Sign in to iCloud.com/find. Select your iPhone or iPad.
- If available, the map will zoom in to show the device's location. Select "Mark as Lost" and follow the on-screen instructions to leave a phone number and message.
- Select "Activate" to lock your iPhone or iPad using your existing passcode. If there's no passcode on the device, you'll be prompted to create one.
- When you mark your iPhone or iPad as lost, it enters Lost Mode: the device locks with your passcode, the action of payment cards and passes used with Apple Pay is suspended, and you can display a phone number and message on the device for whoever finds it.
- When you select your iPhone or iPad, the map will zoom in to show its location.

Retrace your steps and revisit places you've recently been.

Check common areas like your home, office, or any public places you might have visited. Ask people around you; public places are full of kind people. Politely inquire if anyone has seen or picked up your lost phone.

Contact the police.

If you suspect your phone may have been stolen, report the loss to the police. It's better to have the IMEI of your phone. The IMEI is a unique 15-digit serial number of a mobile phone set by the manufacturer. It can be found on the phone's box or by dialing #06# on the phone and saving it.

Reach out to security personnel.

If you're in a mall, airport, or public transportation station, security personnel might have some information. It's worth a try!

Borrow a friend's phone to call or send a message to your lost one. Someone might be willing to return it to its rightful owner.

Contact transportation services.

If you think you lost it while traveling on a bus or taxi, contact the transportation services; they might have information on lost items and the procedure for reporting lost items.

Call your service provider.

Get in touch with your mobile service provider. Report the loss, and they might help you track it or temporarily suspend your service.

Check LaFmap.

Visit the LaFmap website: go to www.lafmap.com and see if anyone has reported finding your phone on the lost and found map.

Social media.

Check social media: if you've enabled location sharing in your social media apps, they might help you track your phone.

Don't forget to act fast and change your passwords to protect your personal information. Stay calm, stay cool, and may the odds be ever in your favor!

First of all, try to remain calm. Panic can complicate clear thinking.

Block your cards

First, call your bank and credit card issuers to report the loss and block your cards. Many institutions have 24/7 customer service for such emergencies. Provide them with the necessary details and request card replacements.

Monitor your accounts

Carefully monitor your bank account and credit card statements for any unauthorized transactions. If you notice any suspicious activity, immediately report it to your bank.

Contact the police

If you believe your wallet was stolen, filing a report with the police can be crucial, especially if you've become a victim of identity theft. Some institutions may require a copy of the police report for verification.

Notify relevant institutions

If your wallet contains other important cards or documents (such as a driver's license, social security card, and membership cards), contact the relevant institutions or organizations to report the loss and request replacements.

Retrace your steps

Think about where you last used or saw your wallet. Retrace your steps and check the places you've been to.

Explore LaFmap

Visit the LaFmap website (www.lafmap.com), a platform that displays lost and found items on a map worldwide. You can report your lost wallet and check if someone has found it near you.

Check nearby lost and found bureaus

If you lost your wallet in a public place, contact the nearest businesses or lost and found department.

When a beloved dog, cat, or any other pet goes missing, it can be a very stressful situation, but it's important not to panic and to take decisive action.

Firstly, remember where exactly you last saw your pet. Often, animals don't stray too far, especially if they are familiar with the area. So, start by searching near the place where your pet disappeared.

Spread the word about your missing pet to local residents, neighbors, shops, and veterinary clinics in your area. Stay in touch in case someone spots your lost pet; they may provide valuable information. If your pet is not aggressive, you can ask people to call it and hold onto it until you arrive.

Don't forget to utilize social media and internet resources. Post a photo of your dog in social media and local animal search groups. This can attract more people's attention to your search.

Post an announcement on Lafmap www.lafmap.com; thanks to the map, it's easier to find your announcement and quickly get in touch with you if your pet is spotted somewhere.

If you've found a mobile phone, remember that it belongs to someone. If you decide to take the found phone home, it may be considered a violation of the law. The best course of action is always to return the item to its rightful owner.

Try to contact the owner

If the phone is dead, charge it and turn it on. The owner may try to call their number before blocking it. Then finding and returning the phone will be much easier. So if you receive an incoming call, be sure to answer and inform that you've found it and are looking for the owner. Ask for information about the owner from the person calling, and if possible, ask them to provide contact details.

If you've found an iPhone and it's in Lost Mode

If "Find My iPhone" is enabled, other users won't be able to use the iPhone except the owner. This happens through activation lock, which prevents the use of the phone even if it's reset to factory settings. Additionally, this feature allows the rightful owner to track the lost device.

If the iPhone is in Lost Mode, it means the owner has logged into iCloud.com and marked the device as lost. You will see a message on the screen informing you about this, as well as a text message from the owner with contact information. Usually, this message contains a phone number or email address to contact the owner.

If the phone is connected to the internet, it automatically sends its location to the owner through iCloud.

Many iPhone users prefer to enable "iCloud Photos," which automatically saves all photos and videos taken on their devices to iCloud. This allows access to images on any iOS or Mac device using the same iCloud account. This is especially convenient when trying to return a lost iPhone to its rightful owner.

Taking photos or videos doesn't require unlocking the iPhone. You can open the camera by tapping the camera icon on the lock screen or swiping left or right. After that, you can take a photo. It's recommended to capture contact information.

If everything goes well, the image will be automatically uploaded to the owner's iCloud Photos account, and they will be able to view it on any of their other devices.

Contact the mobile operator

If you couldn't find the owner using the above methods, contact the mobile operator and inform them about your find. They may provide you with instructions on what to do next.

Take the phone to the police station or lost and found office If you found a phone and can't contact the owner, contact the police or report the find. When receiving the smartphone, the competent authority should issue you a confirmation with detailed information about the case, including your name, address, description of the found phone, as well as the place and time of its discovery. If the phone you found was stolen, you may be asked to testify, even if you're not related to the theft.

Post an announcement

Post an announcement on the map of lost and found Lafmap www.lafmap.com, as it will be easier for the owner to find your announcement and contact you.

Also, try to additionally share the announcement on social media.

If you've found someone's document (passport, driver's license, student ID, bank card) and are looking for the owner of this document, first of all, remember about not disclosing personal data.

There is no exhaustive list of what constitutes personal data and what does not. It's best to follow a simple rule: if certain information can clearly identify a person, then that information is considered personal.

Thus, your passport, driver's license, student ID, or bank card are sources of personal data protected by law.

The law imposes on everyone, even third parties, the obligation to ensure the protection of personal data from unlawful processing and unauthorized access to them. Therefore, in the event of finding documents or cards, the main principle is not to harm their owner.

In the case of finding documents:

Social networks.

If you still want to find the owner of lost documents through social networks, pay attention to the following advice:

- Avoid posting original photos of documents. This attracts scammers' attention and can lead to uncontrolled dissemination of a person's personal data.
- Refrain from disclosing document details (for example, do not indicate passport series and number, date of birth, registered address, etc.).
- In the announcement about the find, limit yourself to mentioning the place of finding, the type of document, and the last name, initials of the owner.
- Consider the chances of your post reaching the document owner. It's doubtful that among 100 people in a community or chat, there is the owner of documents found at a railway station. It's different for a closed group or community of a residential complex where the documents were found, and the owner might actually reside there.

In such a case, it's better to publish an announcement on Lafmap www.lafmap.com. This way, you'll show the approximate location where you found this document. The owner will be able to check the places where they were when they lost their documents on the map and it will be easier, compared to social networks, to find your announcement and contact you.

Police.

Most of the time, we're not familiar with the owner of lost documents, so we cannot "immediately inform the person who lost the documents and return them." A wise decision is to hand over the find to the police – report it on the hotline 102 or contact the nearest police patrol.

Lost and found office.

Somewhat archaic method, many are not even aware of its existence. Despite this, such offices exist in the Kyiv metro, units of the patrol police, and at centers for administrative services provision. Unfortunately, there is no exhaustive list of lost and found offices, so you need to look for them separately in each locality. In Lviv, for example, the lost and found office operates as a full-fledged communal enterprise "Agency of Resources of the Lviv City Council" and provides its services for a fee, the amount of which is determined by the city council.

Lost and found offices, with rare exceptions, are not particularly popular, however, they are an auxiliary way to return lost documents, especially when it comes to loss in public transport or administrative buildings.

In the case of finding a bank card:

- Call the bank's hotline listed on the back of the card and report the find. The bank can contact the immediate owner and inform them about the loss, blockage, and subsequent reissuance of the card, while advising you to destroy the card.

- Hand over the found card to the nearest branch of the respective bank as soon as possible.

Under no circumstances should you keep the card for yourself or try to use it – such actions may be considered fraud or misappropriation of someone else's property!

How to act if you've found a lost pet.

Assess the animal's condition

First and foremost, remember about safety precautions. The animal you found may be sick with rabies. Do not rush to approach too closely or catch it manually.

Assess the behavior of the animal and its appearance from a distance.

In an animal sick with rabies:

- Dilated pupils;
- Restless, aggressive behavior;

- Increased salivation or foaming at the mouth.

If you notice any of these symptoms, move away from the animal at a safe distance and immediately inform the proper authorities.

Determine whether the found animal is a pet or a stray

Usually, domestic animals have collars, are approachable to people, and may have clues to their owner. Before taking the animal, ask local residents; perhaps, they know about this animal and its owner.

A clip in the ear indicates that the animal is neutered, vaccinated against rabies, and registered in a database of stray animals. Some dogs may have their own stable territory and a group adapted to street life.

Check for the presence of an ID tag, tattoo, or microchip

An ID tag is a token (sometimes a capsule with a piece of paper) with the animal's name and the owner's phone number. It is attached to the collar or a special cord. Is there an ID tag? Call the owner!

A tattoo is a tattoo on the animal's ear or groin, consisting of numbers and certifying that it is a purebred animal. By the tattoo number, you can find the contacts of the animal breeder through official structures that register purebred animals.

A microchip is a special capsule implanted under the animal's skin. It contains a code with information about the animal. You can check for the presence of a microchip at a veterinary clinic, having previously found out if the clinic has a chip scanner.

Check for lost pet announcements

Go to the website www.lafmap.com; Lafmap uses a map where all lost and found items and animals are marked. Look at the map for the area where the domestic pet was found and nearby areas. Perhaps the owner has already posted an announcement about their lost pet. If there is no such announcement, create your own announcement with a photo of the lost animal; this way, it will be easier for the owner to contact you.

Periodically check specialized groups on social networks and bulletin boards for publications about lost pets.

How to establish contact with a scared dog?

If you see a dog without an owner, wait; perhaps, the owner is already on the way. Try to establish contact with the animal while being cautious.

A frightened animal may react aggressively, so try to calm it down. Speak to it softly and gently, avoiding sudden movements. Offer food or water, but most importantly, show care and compassion.
